DISCOVERIES... AMERICA Series

Cultural / Travel • 51 programs filmed in HD

Filmed in HD, these programs are a fresh look at the remarkable, unique and culturally diverse qualities of the United States of America. Producers Jim & Kelly Watt introduce you to real people and places that are the core of American character. Never before has a series explored the United States in such depth... cowboys, casinos, political history, parasailing, national parks, monuments, wagon trains, wheel wrights, poets, "paper stainers," guitar makers, dulcimer makers, hide tanners, buffalo round-ups, sculptors, artists, barn painters, marble artists, steam engines, farmers, ranchers, potters, presidential libraries, wildlife, commercial fishermen, sheep herders and a wide variety of pickers, fiddlers, singers & song writers. This is a 21st century portrait of America. A news magazine in style, the Discoveries...America series is a collection of video essays that truly look at the beauty of what makes the United States of America great. From New York to California and every state in between and even Washington, D.C., you'll find exceptional photography, interesting subjects and people telling fascinating stories that document what the real America is all about.

Marbles, Ancient Art & Modern Play

The marble has fascinated man since Roman times when stones were ground to round for the amusement of the ancients. Now there is an enthusiastic group of young marble players... Mibsters...who each year, compete for a place at the National Marbles Tournament in Wildwood, New Jersey. This is the first and oldest organized children's sporting event, consisting of two divisions for boys and girls aged 7-14. The champions are then inducted into the Marbles Hall of Fame, also located in Wildwood, NJ. Antique marbles are enthusiastically collected, possessed and traded at the annual MarbleFest in Cairo, West Virginia. Family owned and operated Marble King is one of only two US marble makers to survive and currently produce over one million marbles a day! The process of converting recycled glass into perfect marbles is absolutely mesmerizing! Glass artists Steve Davis and Eddie Seese demonstrate how they create beautiful pieces so gorgeous they are on display in private collections, galleries and museums around the world.

Alaskan Grizzlies

Grizzlies range 6-7 feet in length, weigh 200-850 lbs, live approximately 20-25 years and can travel at 35 mph! Grizzlies are voracious omnivores that feed on everything from blueberries to migrating salmon and everything between. In North America there were at one time a population of grizzly bears that numbered nearly 50 thousand. Now, although the population in the lower 48 states is down to around one thousand, in Alaska the population is still estimated at over 30 thousand. A number that appears to be stabilized primarily because the wide ranging adults still have a vast wilderness in which to procreate. This program explores the bear population at the mouth of Pack Creek on the eastern shore of Admiralty Island about 30 miles south of Juneau, Alaska where salmon are the main course. A broad estuary and tidal flat at the mouth of Pack Creek is used frequently by bears for travel, feeding, and resting. In Denali National Park grizzly bears eat small plants, berries, ground squirrels, moose or caribou calves, and occasional carrion. Wild blueberries are an abundant food source for Grizzlies in August.

DVDDAKY REVIEW: Video Librarian

Discoveries...America: Kentucky

... Rather than skipping across Kentucky offering brief snippets of natural beauty, this video features nearly a dozen segments focusing on places and events that make Kentucky unique among the 50 states. Of course, with horse racing and Kentucky being nearly synonymous, the program features a great section on the raising of thoroughbreds, as well as an in-depth look at the Kentucky Derby, and segments on a horse auction and dressage... The Discoveries...America programs are valuable additions to travel-hungry public library collections, and this intimate look at the 15th state will entertain first-time vacation planners while also pointing out new destinations for frequent visitors. Recommended.

Discoveries...America: Pennsylvania

... This unique and ambitious series of films (Discoveries...America) about individual states are valuable tools introducing students to the geography, beauty, culture and diversity of the nation and giving students a balanced view of the nation as a whole. In Pennsylvania, for example, students travel back in time through the cobbled streets of Philadelphia to visit the Liberty Bell and the Constitution Hall, learn about Amish lifestyles and farms, see covered bridges and visit Pittsburgh, once known for pollution but now vying to become one of the greenest cities in America. Across the Allegheny river they view hundreds of rare and exotic birds at the National Aviary.

Discoveries...America: Washington

...Despite the reputation of Washington as a soggy state, the sun is always shining in this grand tour. Starting in Seattle by visiting such major points of interest as Puget Sound, Lake Washington, and the Space Needle, the leisurely paced travelogue then moves to Tacoma, the Olympic Peninsula, Mount Rainier, and other tourist destinations. From small coffeehouses and outdoor markets to lush parks and sports venues, the program (Discoveries...America, Washington) visits a multitude of popular spots. Unrushed, informative narration and occasional short interviews with park rangers, shop owners, and cheerful residents make a persuasive case for visiting this scenic Pacific Northwest state.

Discoveries...Asia: Japan –

Tokyo & Central Honshu Island

A sister project to Bennett-Watt's Discoveries...America travelogue series, Discoveries...Asia explores the splendor, history, and culture of the Far East. Japan – Tokyo & Central Honshu Island focuses on Tokyo and its environs, w/ attention to scenery, shopping and shrines. Viewers will visit the Tsukiji Fish Market – the largest in the world of its kind – to witness a tuna auction (where other seafood delicacies are also sold to wholesalers), travel to the Senso Ji Buddhist temple w/ an English-speaking guide (who offers commentary about local holy places), see footage of the Roppongi Hills multi-complex property development, drop into the posh Ginza shopping district (where a square meter of real estate costs over $100,000), and attend a picnic celebrating the blooming of cherry blossoms in Ueno Park. In addition, the program looks at the work of Takayama artisans and highlights Matsuri festival floats, as well as presents a peek at the Koyasan Buddhist mountain retreat. One of the neatest segments here features a trip to the Mt. Fuji area that follows a public transportation labyrinth: from subway to train to bullet train to electric train (w/ switchbacks) to funicular cable railway to ropeways to boat to bus... whew! Armchair travelers & aficionados of Asian culture will appreciate both the sightseeing and the information provided in this beautiful, high-definition filmed journey to the center of the Land of the Rising Sun. Recommended.

Discoveries...Ireland (series)

Armchair travelers will thoroughly enjoy Discoveries...Ireland. The three DVDs, filmed in wide-screen digital high-definition (HD) Dolby stereo, are filled with rich color and excellent cinematography against a background of traditional Irish music and soft, unobtrusive narration. Each disc includes "Castles & Ruins," featuring close-ups and pans of the various castles and ruins discussed. The Emerald Isle includes an extended performance by the Bru Boru dance troupe, focusing equally on the musicians with their traditional instruments and the dancers. On A Mystical Journey, we revisit the Waterford glassworks and see the entire process, from the initial glass blowers' tasks to setting up the design for cutting the crystal and finally cutting the beautiful patterns. A Celtic Treasure features a spoken performance in Gaelic and English, along with traditional music and dancing at the Rathcairn Pub. Highly recommended for general viewers.

China: Beijing, Great Wall, Xi'an, Guilin, Hong Kong & Shanghai

Beijing has an amazing history with Tiananmen Square, The Forbidden City and the Temple of Heaven. UNESCO World Heritage sites, the Imperial Palace Museum, Hutongs (old neighborhoods) still exist surrounded by 20th century progress. The Summer Palace is the largest imperial garden in the world. The Great Wall of China was first built in the 7th century as a defense against the Mongolians when China was still divided into many small states. Peasants discovered The Xi'an Terracotta Warriors in 1974 and are life-size terracotta figures of warriors and horses arranged in battle formations are the star features. Guilin and the Li River are gorgeous with limestone towers and the view from a river cruise through it's crystal-clear water is outstanding. Nearby Yangshuo City Market is a site to behold with everything very fresh! Hong Kong is a kaleidoscope of life, a blending of East and West in a city of diversity where new and old meet at every turn. Symphony of Lights, The Star Ferry, world's longest open-air escalator, markets and fantastic historical photos taken from Victoria Peak all leave an indelible impression. Hangzhou is considered one of the 10 most scenic cities in China and Shanghai.

Dignity

Cultural • Filmed in HD

What do a professional baseball player, a couple of dozen high school kids, the Dominican Republic and over $100,000 have in common? Dignity: This program documents the journey of a group of high school students that discovered they could have a tremendous impact on many peoples lives. In a little under 6 months the Bellevue High School Microfinance Club raised well over $100,000 dollars from members of their community. Rather than simply give the funds to the poor as a hand out, they donated the funds to Esperanza International, (founded by Former Seattle Mariner Catcher Dave Valle), who administers microfinance loans to the poorest of the poor, to start or maintain small businesses in the Dominican Republic and Haiti. To see first hand how their microfinance funds were being utilized, 25 students along with chaperones using their own personal funds, traveled to the Dominican Republic to experience that which can only be told in pictures and words of these remarkable young men and women. The youths visited small villages, pueblos, barrios & batays to sit in on loan meetings, talk to loan associates and learn first hand how a loan for as little as $50-250 can change not just one person's life, but potentially hundreds of others. When added to their experiences in actually going out and asking for the donations from their community, seeing how the funds are being used and making new friends along the way, the kids from Bellevue High School Microfinance Club will carry with them indelible memories for the rest of their lives and plans to share the good of microfinance with other teenagers around the world. Life changing lessons: Learning that the amount of money you may have is not the key to happiness, that a dollar has an incredibly different value depending on your circumstances and most importantly: Young men & women CAN make a difference.

Discoveries... Dominican Republic

Cultural / Travel • Filmed in HD

Explored and claimed by Christopher Columbus on his first voyage in 1492, the island of Hispaniola became a springboard for Spanish conquest of the Caribbean and the American mainland. The Dominican Republic is now the number one tourist destination in the Caribbean, surpassing Puerto Rico for the first time in 40 years! Kiteboarding is the hottest new water sport in the world and Cabarete is the place to be. This small Caribbean town has the reputation of having the most fantastic kitesurfing conditions on the planet. Barahona, located a three hour's drive west of Santo Domingo, was founded by French-Haitian General, Toussaint L'Overture. He believed Barahona's location was the perfect spot to build an alternate port to Santo Domingo's. Nearby Lago Enriquillo is the lowest lake in elevation in the Caribbean. The national Dominican drink - rum - is obtained from the distillation of alcohol from sugarcane and its derivatives, enriched through various processes of blending, resting and aging. The history of Dominican rum dates back to Admiral Christopher Columbus, who brought sugarcane from Spain in one of his first trips to the New World. Santo Domingo has many firsts... It is the oldest city in the New World, has the first street in the Americas, Calle de Las Damas and the first cathedral in the New World, Cathedral Basílica Santa María la Menor. The Zona Colonial is an important section of the city because of the high number of landmarks, including Alcazar de Colón, Fortaleza Ozama, Catedral Primada de America, and others. There are also several open air public markets that have been operating for decades. Plus a preview of the Dignity Documentary.

The Golden Triangle

The Golden Triangle of India includes Delhi (the capital of India), Agra (the city of Taj) and Jaipur (the desert land of Rajput kings). India's Taj Mahal is an admired masterpiece that combines elements of Indian, Islamic, Persian and Turkish design and style into one of the world's seven wonders. Agra Fort, built in 1565, has a lovely view of "the Taj" and is made up entirely of red sandstone. The deserted city of Fatehpur Sikri, situated near Agra, is considered to be amongst the most majestic cities of the Mughal Empire. All three treasures are considered UNESCO World Heritage Sites. Jaipur is the vibrant capital of Rajasthan and is known as the "Pink City". Young kite enthusiasts visit the marketplace to resupply their hobby.

15th century Mehrangarh Fort stands sentinel to the city of Jodhpur below. Nearby Jaswant Thada is the cremation ground of former rulers. In Jodhpur, the Clock Tower Bazaar has a network of narrow lanes where vendors sell everything from exotic spices, fruit and vegetables to exquisite Rajasthani textiles and handicrafts. The Indian railway is the world's largest employer. In Delhi, encounter the ancient city walls, Ghandi's crematorium and the largest mosque in the city, Jama Masjid, built in 1650 by Shah Jahan who also created the Taj Mahal. Varanasi, Uttar Pradesh, India is said to be the most holy city in Hinduism. Lord Buddha delivered his first sermon at nearby Samath in 450 BC.

Land Of The Maharajas

Rajasthan is a land graced with impenetrable forts, spectacular palaces and waves of sand dunes and serene lakes. The Pink City of Jaipur is best known for its City Palace Complex which includes Jantar Mantar, a collection of astronomical instruments chiseled out of stone and marble between 1727-1735 and to this day still gives extremely accurate information. The nearby Amber Fort displays flawless beauty built in 1592 in white marble and red sandstone and is best accessed by royal elephant ride up to a commanding view of the surrounding area. The artistry created by Indian hands is visible in ancient handicrafts. Hand block printing, gemstone carving and exotic Indian carpets and rugs carry the legacy that started long before the days of the Empire. Jagdish Temple is also featured. Manvar Tent Camp, located just 2 hours drive from Jodhpur in the great Indian Thar Desert is a rare sanctuary of pristine beauty, tranquility and peace, best experienced on camelback.

Rural Treasures

Rajasthan today has 70 percent of India's population living in rural areas comprising 40 percent of Indian households without electricity and 75% without running water. In the Aravali mountains the largest Jain temple in India. The Udaipur Kumbhalgarh Fort affords outstanding views of the dusty plains of Marwar. Nearby Ghanerao Royal Castle affords an intimate look at rural life, tribal nomads, primitive farming & schools. A visit to Narlai, that time has seemed to bypass. A personal tour of Dhamli by Thakur Inder Singh, a descendant of the landed aristocracy that owned this and many other villages and land during feudal times, has opened his family's ancestral fort to guests so that others can appreciate the real lifestyle of villagers around Jodhpur. Ranthambore National Park, once the hunting ground of the Jaipur Maharajas up until the 1970's is now a national park and tiger preserve.
